'A waste of money'

County council's public consultation into the future of Haverhill town centre told us nothing we didn't already know, says the mayor tive for the town.

The borough council has also co-ordinated Vision 2031 plans, which details changes to be made over the next two decades.

Despite Vision 2031 recognising that the town centre is the heart of Haverhill, the county's consultation ruled that the challenges faced by the town centre need "far more focused work than can be achieved through a town wide document".

A St Edmundsbury Borough Council spokeswoman said: "The supplementary comments and information gathered by the county council's exercise will provide useful evidence in the preparation of the town centre master plan."

"Early preparatory work on the scope and content of the master plan is commencing but the timetable for public involvement has yet to be agreed, although it is unlikely to be before the new year."

Following its consultation, Vision 2031 was passed through by the borough council in its draft version. All objections made will be explored by the planning inspector next year.

Work starts on town's new clock

PUPILS have started work on an innovative town clock by folding paper angels.

The clock, designed by students at Samuel Ward Academy, is going to have three clock faces held up by angel-like figures pointing to Jubilee Walk, Haverhill High Street and the bus station.

It will be made mostly from stainless steel to keep cost at a minimum.

Neil Williams, head of art and design at the school, explained that the paper folding will help determine the best way to make the figures.

He said: "They will be traced onto stainless steel and cut out before being bent – that way the work can be done by the students."

The steel will be folded around a mould of the figure, to give the illusion that they are three-dimensional when mounted.

Mr Williams is asking children from all of Haverhill's schools to have a go at paper folding in a bid to help the clock design along.

He said: "We want all students from all key stage levels to be involved and we want them to be able to do as much of the work as possible so they can feel as if they have contributed."

Samuel Ward's proposed design was approved by town councillors on October 29.

The town council has pledged £10,000 to completion of the project, as well as making their own observations about the final product.

Councillors suggested lighting the clock from the inside to ensure it can be seen at night and including numerals on the clock faces. Mr Williams said that making the clock almost entirely from stainless steel will allow lighting and other options to be explored.

As well as primary schools across Haverhill getting involved, local companies and members of the public are also being encouraged to take part.

Weekly workshops to complete the clock are being held at Samuel Ward every Sunday between 8am and 12pm.

Mr Williams said: "We're still hoping to get the clock up as near to Christmas as possible – we'll do everything we can to get it done before then. If any companies or individuals want to take part in the work, please get in touch."

If you want to take part in the clock project, contact Samuel Ward on 01440 761511. Please confirm your attendance before visiting a Sunday workshop.

Cars dented and scratched in weekend attack

SIX cars have been damaged after a weekend of vandalism.

The incidents occurred between 1am and 2am on November 10. The vehicles were all parked in Cangle Road and Duddery Road and were all left with dents and scratches.

A 24-year-old man from Haverhill has been arrested on suspicion of criminal damage.

The 24-year-old has been released on bail pending further enquiries.

He will return to Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation centre on November 26.

'We fought back and won'

HISTORIC cottages that date back to the 1820s have been saved from demolition.

The houses, at number 85 and 87 on Haverhill High Street, could have been knocked down to make way for six new flats, as proposed by the Havebury Housing Partnership.

But on November 7 St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Development Control Committee refused the plans and chose to save part of the town's heritage.

Council councillor Tony Brown, who represents Haverhill East and Kedington, hailed the decision as "fundamental" for Haverhill, and praised town councillors, borough councillors and fellow county councillors for standing up and working together.

He said: "It is the day that the town fought back and won – the borough are finally thinking about the heritage of the town. In Haverhill, buildings like this are rare, and we don't have many left."

"We all worked on this together, and

SAVED: The two cottages which were threatened with demolition pushed for the good of the town."

The historic cottages, made from clay lump, are thought to be the oldest buildings left on the high street.

Haverhill taxi driver Jason Crooks took steps to get the cottages listed earlier this year in a bid to save them from destruction.

Despite the application being refused, Mr Crooks was told by English Heritage that the buildings were of "local historical significance".

Mr Crooks, of Little Thurlow, said:

"I'm absolutely delighted at the decision from the development committee.

"I hope Havebury now embrace the words of the committee and residents of Haverhill and restore the cottages.

"It was great to see all our local councillors from both sides of the political divide united in support for the cottages."

Will Austin, town clerk, attended the meeting on behalf of Haverhill Town Council and set out their objections.

The committee voted 7-5 in favour of refusing demolition.

He said: "These cottages are some 200 years old and we believe they are the oldest buildings in Haverhill High Street.

"Although not listed buildings they are an important part of the town's heritage. The construction materials and techniques used are unusual, and as residences they are of historical importance."

Mr Austin plans to meet with representatives from Havebury Housing to discuss how affordable housing can be delivered in the town centre, while still preserving Haverhill's heritage.

Havebury bought the cottages earlier this year, but an independent report has revealed that they "are not repairable at a reasonable cost".

Karen Mayhew, Chief Executive at Havebury, said: "This small development would have provided the opportunity for local people to move into modern, energy efficient homes in the town centre.

"For those families waiting, we are saddened an opportunity has been missed to build more new homes which we sorely need."

Autumn fun at school

A PRIMARY school is holding an autumn fair later this month.

Clements School, on Greenfields Way, is inviting parents and friends to join in with the fun on November 29 between 5-7pm.

The fair is being held at the school and will include a tombola, cake stalls and a games stall – run by year 6 pupils.

First prize in the event's raffle is an Olympus digital camera worth £140, and refreshments will also be available on the evening.

There are a limited number of tables for rent, at £7.50 each.

E-Fit released after assault on woman

A WHITE man aged between 25 and 30 is being hunted by police after an assault.

The victim, a woman in her forties, was walking along an alleyway from Hazel Close, Haverhill, to Castle Lane at around 9.20pm on October 1.

When she was about six metres away from reaching the road at Castle Lane, the woman was pushed to the floor from behind and kicked in the stomach.

The suspect, who is around 5ft 10in tall and of a thin build, ran away towards Hazel Close after the woman hit out at him.

Anyone who recognises the man, who was wearing a black zip-up hooded top, or who has any information about this incident should contact PC Georgie Parrot at Haverhill Police Station on 101.

You can also call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Speeding worries discussed with MP

CONCERNs about speeding have been discussed with residents living along the B1061.

West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock, pictured right, met with people from Great Bradley, The Thurlows and Great Wrating after they expressed their worries about vehicles speeding through the villages.

Ideas to come out of the meeting, which took place on November 8, included the possibility of a speed camera van, clipping back hedges to allow for greater visibility and it was also decided that Suffolk County Council will carry out a survey on the use of the road by HGVs.

Mr Hancock said: "The public meeting on Friday was packed. A lot of people had braved the weather to get there which I think shows how strongly local people feel about the issue of speeding."

"But the meeting was very positive and I think we came away with a number of ideas for helping address the problem."

In Haverhill, residents, councillors, cadets and soldiers came together in commemoration for an annual parade through the town.

Haverhill Royal British Legion started their parade from the Arts Centre.

School to get new garden

A HAVEN for children and insects alike is going to be built at a primary school.

Kedington Primary Academy is getting a new butterfly garden, thanks to a generous donation from the Eleemosynary charity.

Pupils received a cheque for £664.98 at an assembly on November 8, presented by trustee Barbara Surridge.

Darren Woodward, headteacher, said: "We're very grateful to Mrs Surridge for bringing the cheque into assembly."

"The children are particularly inspired that they are about to make their own garden."

The project to build the garden is set to begin in the new year, and it should be completed ready for spring 2014.

It will be planned and built by a group of children from the primary school, who will showcase their skills for design, ecology, construction and finance.

Teen escapes jail term after stealing from his mum's flat

A TEENAGER who stole from his mother's home and raided a homeless centre has avoided custody.

Daniel Timson, 18, of Camps Road, Haverhill, stole his mother's partner's phone and helped himself to chicken and fish from the freezer.

A few days after the break in, which happened overnight between July 20 and 21 this year, Timson was one of a group of intruders who took cash, stamps, a TV set, three phones and a camera from a homeless centre.

The items stolen from the Limes Hostel, also in Camps Road, and the cost of the damage caused came to £719.

DEBRA FOX

Timson was arrested after being spotted by his mother's partner in the town library.

The court heard that on arrest, Timson shouted to him: "You wait till I get back to Haverhill. You are dead. I'm going to kill you."

Timson pleaded guilty at magistrates' court to two counts of burglary and one of witness intimidation before being sentenced at Ipswich Crown Court on November 11.

Charles Myatt, defending, said it was a "miracle" that Timson only had one previous offence against him due to his difficult upbringing.

Timson had been in care since the age of 6, staying at 15 different foster homes and having 20 different social workers.

Mr Myatt said that Timson had managed to obtain a string of educational qualifications, despite his troubled start, and that this showed strength of character.

Judge John Holt sentenced Timson to 200 hours of unpaid community work, and placed him under the supervision of the probation service for two years.

He said: "I am going to give you a chance."

Man charged following attempted robbery

A MAN has been charged with attempted robbery.

Jack Davies, 19, of Rockall Close, Haverhill, has been charged after a man was threatened with a knife and asked to hand over his phone and money.

The incident happened on Wednesday, November 6 at 12.30am in Jubilee Walk. Davies appeared in Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court on November 7.

He has been remanded in custody and his next appearance will be at Ipswich Crown Court on November 19.

Those cottages are plain ugly

AFTER the demolition of fine buildings like The Mount, Cambridge House, Hampshire House and Chantry House, it seems incredible that the council should want to preserve the two plain and ugly cottages at 85/87 High Street, neither of which retain any of their original features. It's bad enough to have to endure the Manor House, the Atterton & Ellis and Australian Arms buildings giving our town a run down image without even more properties completely out of place in our town.

Caring doesn't stop at Christmas

CHRISTMAS day is traditionally a time for celebrating, resting and enjoying family time at home. But for many of the hundreds of thousands of children in England responsible for caring for their loved ones, their duties do not stop on this special day.

Getting up at 6am, making breakfast for an ill or disabled parent, looking after a poorly younger sibling, cleaning the house or preparing Christmas lunch are just some of the responsibilities young carers will be carrying out, while many other children have a restful day at home.

There are 166,000 young carers in England, but we believe this figure is just the tip of the iceberg – many more children remain hidden from view and are slipping through the net, undetected by services.

Shockingly, for young carers some of whom are as young as five years old, this has increased by 80 per cent over the last decade alone.

It is vital these children get the support they desperately need.

This Christmas your readers can help to support them by holding a carol singing service. This can be in a local church, at work or at home with friends and family. This fun and festive activity is an easy way to raise money, and awareness, for vulnerable children and young people in our communities who need help. We have a range of free materials, available to download, that can help you to organise your carol singing event. From books of carols to collection buckets. Simply visit www.childrenssociety.org.uk/carols to get involved. Funds are vital for us to continue our work providing support to many, often vulnerable children, such as young carers, and to make sure they have the best possible future in front of them.

Our research shows that caring can cost children dearly. All children should have the right to thrive and enjoy their childhoods.

We hope your readers can get involved in spreading the festive cheer in their communities and make a real difference to thousands of children's lives.

U3A MEETING: Eve Regelous, The History of Harrods

A SHOW of hands revealed that very few of in the U3A members present had never been shopping at Harrods departmental store in Knightsbridge.

The dozen or so photographs which Eve Regelous had brought along to display captured well the unmistakable ambience of the largest retail shop in Europe.

Before getting into the history of the well known store, Eve told us the unusual way she became involved as she was a professional magician approached by Harrods to entertain at Christmastime.

She and her husband, Peter, were re-engaged over a 10 year period during a time of change of ownership, but not of the revered standards set for the staff and customers many years before, which even extended to taking people to law for copying their "unique colours", green and gold used on emblems for promotional literature and their "iconic" carrier bags.

Aged only 25, Charles Henry Harrod started his business in Borough High Street in 1824 and after moving to the East End with a special interest in tea, made the final move to Bromton Road to capitalise on trade at the Great Exhibition of 1851.

Harrods son, Charles Digby expanded the business to employ 100 staff by 1880, but in 1883, disaster struck, a massive fire destroyed the shop and the Christmas stock. So as not to disappoint any of his valued customers, Charles Harrod remarkably fulfilled every order on time and in the process made a record profit.

A brand new building was built on the Knightsbridge site which a few years later incorporated England's first moving staircase, a scary device for which those brave enough to use it were offered brandy if they reached the top. The "great and good" of London's society became customers and many others were attracted by the new credit facilities on offer, and by 1905 the present building was completed, and business with Royal patronage added, expanded and flourished. The War effort included the manufacture of (silk) parachutes and bomber parts. In 1959 House of Fraser bought Harrods who in 1985 sold out to The Fayed brothers for £615M after a bitter struggle with Lhono's Tiny Rowland.

Mohamed Al-Fayed became the face of Harrods and after a "spat" with the Duke of Edinburgh, destroyed the Royal Coat of Arms. More Royal press coverage came after the deaths of his son, Dodi and Princess Diana. A statue was erected in Harrods together with many photographs of the couple. Another commissioned statue dedicated to Michael Jackson has however found an unexpected home at the Craven Cottage football ground.

In 1994 Al-Fayed severed association with House of Fraser, but retained ownership of Harrods until 2010 when he sold it to Qatar Holdings for a reputed £1.5bn with the hope that "the legacy and traditions to which he adhered would be continued".

It appears that Harrods will remain in foreign hands for the immediate future and the new directors are looking at markets in the Far East as the store's appeal widens. Eve's talk with the added dimension of the personal touch was enjoyed by all.

The next talk will be about the Caister lifeboats by Donald Hill on 26 November, followed by the U3A Christmas Party on 3rd December. Both events start at 10.30am at the Arts Centre.

Town pays respects to beloved Les Ager

REMEMBERED: Cllr Les Ager

MORE than 300 mourners gathered at Haverhill's Old Independent Church to say goodbye to a popular Haverhill man.

Former mayor and popular town and borough councillor Les Ager died on October 24 following a battle with lymphoma.

The funeral service, conducted by Reverend Canon Ian Finn, rector of Haverhill, brought 350 family members, friends, residents and colleagues to the church on November 6.

Daughter Karen Chinery said: "Dad knew so many people from so many walks of life that we thought there may be quite a lot of people attending."

"With this in mind, we went for the Old Independent Church with its large capacity rather than St Mary's which may have left people standing outside."

Cllr Ager made a great contribution to Haverhill's arts and music scene and the service, held on November 6, celebrated this too.

Three performances, all involving members of the family, took place during the funeral.

Karen conducted Psalm 23, performed by the choir, while Mark

DEBRA FOX

Ager, Les' son, conducted Scheherazade, performed by Haverhill Silver Band.

Grandchildren Lauren and Adam Chinery also made their own tribute with Over the Rainbow.

Karen said: "The family would like to thank everyone who attended the service with a special thank you to those who took part in the musical performances or gave tributes."

"We feel that the service was a real celebration of his life rather than a sad occasion and we know Les would have preferred it this way."

Son Mark led the tributes to his dad, and Barrie Stevenson, founder of Haverhill Operatic Society, Gordon Musset and Will Austin, town clerk, also said a few words.

Cllr Ager was elected to the town council in 2006, and was successful in re-election in May 2007. He was also voted in to represent Haverhill East Ward on St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

He took up the post of deputy mayor in 2007, and stepped in to lead the council later that year.

Drugs to blame for theft, court told

A SHOPLIFTER said he was in a "zombie-like" state from the medication he was taking when he tried to steal designer gloves from a department store.

Damien Asplen – currently living at the Days Inn in Phoenix Road, Haverhill – pleaded guilty to the offence at Cambridge Magistrates' Court following the theft on October 10 at John Lewis in Cambridge's St Andrew's Street.

Paul Brown, prosecuting, told the court the 21-year-old took Ralph Lauren gloves from a display and ripped the security tag off them, but was stopped by a staff member and the item was retrieved.

Asplen, representing himself, said he wasn't aware of what he was doing.

He said: "I was in a zombie-like state due to my schizophrenia drugs – it happens sometimes because it is a tranquilliser."

Magistrates heard the offence was the latest in a string of thefts by the defendant over the past two years.

Claire Robinson, chairman of the bench, told Asplen: "We are concerned there seems to be a pattern of offending and whilst accepting that you have mental health problems you are committing crimes and cannot just allow that to go unchecked."

A pre-sentence report was requested from the probation service, with Asplen bailed until December 3.

MUSEUM: The children raised more than £70.

See the wonders at Westfield

PARENTS and teachers enjoyed an afternoon of education from primary school children.

Pupils from year 3 and 4 at Westfield Primary Academy in Haverhill opened their own Anglo-Saxon museum for the day.

Their exhibition was filled with handmade treasure boxes, which were packed with chosen artefacts including shields, swords, coins and jewellery.

The creative pupils also acted as curators for the day, and ran a cafe for visitors.

Parents were invited to take home some of the artefacts in exchange for a donation. The museum raised £71.55. Jill Lightfoot, deputy head, said: "It all went fantastically and we were very well supported by our parents who are just wonderful."

Half of the money raised is being donated to chosen charity Haverhill Food Bank and the other half will be used as an end of term treat for the children.

Firm offers free fuel for elderly

ORGANISATIONS and individuals are being given the chance to apply for free heating oil to combat the cold weather.

Butler Fuels, on Homefield Road, Haverhill, is giving away 500 litres of kerosene in a bid to lend a helping hand this winter.

The company has teamed up with charity Independent Age, which helps older people live more fulfilling lives. Together, they are asking for nominations for those who deserve to win the free oil.

Keith Durrant, regional manager at Butler Fuels, said: "As the seasons start to change, our focus turns to keeping homes and properties warm and helping people to get prepared ahead of any major drop in temperature.

DEBRA FOX

"By offering a fuel donation, along with our connection with Independent Age, we hope we can make a difference in the local community when the nights draw in and severe weather conditions kick in."

The charity is urging those who know of an older neighbour, friend or family member to apply for the fuel on their behalf to help them through the colder months.

Janet Morrison, chief executive at Independent Age, said: "Older people living in isolation can feel even more cut off from society once the days get shorter; Independent Age can help address issues worsened by winter with advice about benefits, care and support available, including opportunities to increase social networks through befriending.

"We are working with the Certas Energy team to reach and help more older people and to help individuals feel connected with the local community. We encourage anyone concerned about an older neighbour, relative or friend to apply for this fuel donation."

The closing date for entrants is November 22 and successful applicants will be notified within 28 days.

To send in a nomination email bursary@butlerfuels.co.uk.

West Suffolk MP welcomes news of pension charge cap

SAVING for retirement will now be rewarded after reforms to pension charges have been announced.

The Government plans to introduce a cap on pension charges, to save people spending thousands of pounds.

Employers and employees will also be better informed about the choices, so they can select a scheme that suits them.

Matthew Hancock says he is in support of these plans to help people who work hard.

He said: "This is great news for hardworking people in West Suffolk who are doing the right thing and saving for retirement. It will help ensure they get the value for money from their pension that they deserve."

"Conservatives have already taken action to cut fuel duty and income tax and we are changing the law to force energy companies to put customers on the lowest tariff."

A consultation will start on how to reduce charges.

Men arrested after drugs warrant

THREE men have been arrested after a drugs warrant was issued.

Police searched a property in Glemsford Place, Haverhill, on November 6 and discovered a number of cannabis wraps, a large amount of cash, and a number of power tools which are believed to have been stolen.

Two men, aged 26 years old and 25, were arrested on suspicion of possession of a Class B drug with intent to supply and on suspicion of handling stolen goods.

A 19-year-old man was also arrested on suspicion of handling stolen goods. The men have been released on bail, pending further enquiries, until December 10.

Beavers help air ambulance

CARING beavers gave up their evening to raise money for the Essex Air Ambulance.

Members of the Kedington beavers were given a two-minute challenge as part of their friendship challenge badge.

Challenges included seeing how many golf balls could be putted, how many ducks could be hooked and taking part in a relay race.

Each beaver was sponsored for their task, and in total the 24 members raised £1,000 for the charity.

The beavers are all aged between 6 and 8.

Annabel Spicer, leader, said:

"Our estimated amount was £250 - we were blown away on the evening."

Drug user jailed for assaulting former partner

A DRUG user has been jailed for assaulting his former partner and being in possession of heroin, crack cocaine and cannabis.

Timothy Clark, 27, of Ashlea Close, Haverhill, was sentenced to six months imprisonment at Ipswich Crown Court on November 8 after Judge Rupert Overbury described his previous record as "appalling".

Clark, who has appeared in court 14 times for 42 offences, pleaded guilty to three counts of possession of a class A drug and three of possession of a class B drug.

In July, Clark was stopped by police when travelling in a car in Mayfield Road, Bury St Edmunds.

He was searched and was in possession of six wraps of heroin, five wraps of crack cocaine and a small quantity of cannabis.

The 27-year-old said all were for personal use.

After being bailed, Clark was arrested again in September after he allegedly struck his former partner on the head with a mobile phone during an argument.

He denied the assault, but was convicted following a trial.

Christopher Morgan, mitigating, told the court that Clark had been a long term drug user, but was now taking steps to address his problem.

On sentencing, Judge Overbury said: "It is up to you to demonstrate that you can move away from those areas and people which have caused you problems in the past. If you don't, you know what will happen."

Silver band combines with brass ensemble

AN AUTUMN concert held by Haverhill Silver Band attracted a full house.

The group shared the programme with brass ensemble Koperpoets, who were visiting Haverhill from the Netherlands.

The Silver Band performed for the first half, and their slot included renditions of Bandology, Bobby Shaftoe and The Day thou Gavest, in honour of Remembrance Sunday.

They finished their section with Scheherazade, by Rimsky-Korsakov, in honour of former mayor Les Agers as it was one of his favourite pieces of music.

Koperpoets also presented a lively and innovative programme for the second half of the concert, which was held at the Arts Centre on November 10.

'When I am taking photos I am so focused on the subject that all my worries go to the back of my mind. When I have managed to get a good photograph it makes me feel proud'

— Savannah Hanlon, 15, whose photograph of a beetle, right, won her first prize in the competition

Savannah's striking beetle catches the judge's eye

DEBRA FOX

TALENTED photographers were tasked with exploring the flora and fauna surrounding East Town Park in a recent competition.

The park's first photography competition was launched in May in conjunction with professional wildlife photographer Colin Edwards.

Mr Edwards, who is based in Haverhill, gave entrants until October 31 to capture stunning images of the park's wildlife and beauty – with a framed print of the winning image and a day's tuition with the wildlife photographer up for grabs for the winner.

The photographs had to be taken within a 25-mile radius of the park, and there were two categories – one for adults and one for under 16s. Judges did not know who had taken the image until after the winners were chosen.

Savannah Hanlon, 15, of Queensway, was chosen as a winner for her close up of a cardinal beetle.

Nick Gray, also of Haverhill, took home the adult prize for his image of a burnet moth.

Mr Edwards said: "Nick actually booked a one-to-one with me because he was struggling with his composition. It was great to see him manage to get it together to take such a nice image."

Savannah, who suffers from high-functioning autism, hailed the win as "the best news".

She said: "When I heard that I had won the competition, I couldn't believe it. I was so happy. It was the best news I had had for a while."

Having high-functioning autism has led to Savannah feeling isolated, explained mum Wendy, and bullying had knocked her self-confidence.

Wendy said: "It was absolutely amazing to hear that she had won – it was the best thing that could have happened to us."

"Her confidence has been so down, and this has helped build her back up again."

Savannah became interested in photography when she was 11 after becoming fascinated with her uncle's close-up shots of insects.

The competition at East Town Park is the first the 15-year-old has ever entered.

She said: "When I am taking photos I am so focused on the subject that all my worries go to the back of my mind."

"When I have managed to get a good photograph it makes me feel proud."

Wendy added: "She can lose herself in photography and she concentrates on her pictures – she can have total control."

Colin Edwards took Savannah and Nick on a day's tutorial to Bushy Park as part of their prize.

The photographer gave the winners tips on how to improve their skills before taking them on a deer hunt to capture the animals with their cameras.

Wendy said: "Savannah loved it – she wouldn't stop talking about it the next day day – and when she talks about it you know she's had good time."

Colin takes top wildlife prize

WILDLIFE photographer Colin Edwards, who was on the panel of judges for the East Town Park competition, will see his pictures go on display at London Zoo.

The photographer has scooped a win in the prestigious ZSL Photography Awards – a competition dedicated to discovering the best wildlife images worldwide.

The awards also raise awareness for the amazing wildlife around the globe, and its struggle to survive.

Mr Edwards' image of a Western Lowland gorilla won one category, while his shot of two stallions sparring was commended in another category. Mr Edwards, of Haverhill, said: "With some big names in the world of photography having entered, it was great to grab the win.

"Photography is a very hard way to make a living as the competition is so intense but I wouldn't change doing what I love."

He added: "It's always an honour to have your work recognised and if any of my images in any way highlight the protection that we need to give our wildlife, then I see it as a good job done."

This year, Colin also entered the British Wildlife Photography Awards.

He was shortlisted, and made it to the finals.

Royal history inspires name for care home

DEBRA FOX

A HISTORICAL name has been chosen for a new care home.

Cleeves Place is the winning name for the care home being built on the former Chalkstone Middle School, in Millfields Way, Haverhill.

Suggested by Barbara De Vita, Cleeves Place is scheduled to open in December 2014 and will take residents from Place Court Care Home, Camps Road, which is due to close.

Barbara's mum Sylvia Pearce is a resident at Place Court, and the pair came up with the new name by joining Place Court with a word inspired by Anne of Cleves, pictured, who was given a house in Haverhill on her marriage to Henry VIII.

Sylvia said: "My daughter and I are delighted, as we like the name very much and it is lovely to know that as the new care home grows in the community, we have been a part of it."

Chris Hopkinson, regional operations director at Care UK, said the name had been chosen for its "originality" and its "historical link". Barbara received a £100 Love2Shop voucher, along with two other finalists.

Care UK colleague Kerry Gridley from Place Court nominated Millfields Court and Haverhill resident Marion Smith nominated Weavers House.

Cllr Jenny Antill, assistant cabinet member for health and adult services, said: "It was a privilege to be involved with the judging and I'm so happy that Barbara and Sylvia came up with a name that reflects the history of the area that the home will serve."

Construction on the home is due to start this month.

Cleeves Place is one of ten new homes in Care UK's £60 million investment into care provision, in partnership with Suffolk County Council.

Eat healthily this winter

FAMILIES are being encouraged to make healthy mealtime choices this winter.

It is thought that the recession has forced people to opt for sugary snacks as the cheaper option instead of fruit and vegetables.

In light of this research, members of Live Well Suffolk are suggesting healthy and filling main courses for winter menus.

Karen Davies, Live Well Suffolk dietitian, said: "The weather is starting to turn colder and nourishing stews and casseroles make a healthy main course choice for families this winter. Not only are they filling and healthy, they are relatively cheap to prepare.

"Make sure you bulk them up with lots of vegetables such as carrots, swede or parsnips – it's really important that everyone aims to eat five portions of fruit and veg a day and doing so doesn't have to be expensive. "Fruit and vegetables that are in season will often be cheaper, and you can also pick up fresh produce very cheaply from the local market."

Families have also been encouraged to select lean cuts of meat, avoid processed food and choose to eat wholemeal pasta and bread.

See livewellsuffolk.org.uk or phone 01473 229292 for more healthy meal ideas.

Enterprise Week is finally here

ACTIVITIES, exhibitions and guest speakers will take over West Suffolk College for Enterprise Week.

The scheme will officially arrive in West Suffolk during the college's enterprise week - which runs from November 18 until November 22. A free launch will take place on November 20 at the main campus, from 6pm.

Karen Last, from Clayden Financial, has been mentoring Caroline Gould, of Caroline Gould Events. She said the scheme has reinforced her own sense of ability and improved her confidence.

A DOZEN businesses will be sharing their knowledge at a mini marketing expo.

The importance of local marketing will be discussed in an event held by the best of Haverhill later this month.

Scheduled to take place at the Days Inn, on Phoenix Road, the session will feature a talk from the head of the best of franchise Michelle Downey.

Printers Red Side Up will also be there, showcasing some material to help companies communicate with their target market.

Paul McGerty, Director of Red Side Up, said: "Despite the popularity and rise of digital marketing there will always be a place for well designed, good quality printed marketing literature."

"The quality of your printed material really does convey a lot about your company. If you're promoting a professional service or quality product then your print has to represent it in the right way if you are to be credible and gain the trust of your customers."

Elaine Carr, owner of the best of Haverhill, says it's not just large companies who should be taking a proactive approach to marketing.

She said: "This is why I am delighted to have Michelle Downey as our speaker this month. In her role as head of the best of, Michelle is involved on a day to day basis with looking at how small businesses can improve the way they market themselves locally.

"Michelle is a very enthusiastic speaker; her passion for marketing is infectious."

"Our best of business members who will be taking part in the expo are able to offer a wealth of advice and support based on years of expertise in their industry. From web design to large format print to social media we will have all the experts under one roof on 21st November."

If you would like to attend, confirm your place by 5pm on November 19.

Greg's in town

"THIS isn't a real job," declares Greg Davies, the acerbic Mr Gilbert of The Inbetweeners.

And Davies, all 6ft 8in of him, would know. Prior to his performing career, the actor and comic spent 13 years as a drama teacher. Now he's in the midst of his own sitcom, Man Down, and back on the road with his The Back of My Mum's Head tour.

"I'm amazed I ever hear a comedian moaning about life on the road. It's brilliant, why would it not be brilliant? You get driven to a town where people come and see you – that's not a job!" he grins. "I think comedians try to make out it's awful in case other people try and get into it."

He's visiting Cambridge Corn Exchange tonight but what all we really want to know is whether or not he's got a part in The Inbetweeners film sequel. "I'm relatively positive that Mr Gilbert will make an appearance," Davies offers, but apart from that he's keeping schtum. "I know loads about it but I'm not allowed to tell you," he teases. "Sorry, I'd be killed."

The first film had the highest-grossing British comedy opening of all time, so it's no surprise Davies is confident the follow-up will be just as good: "I'm sure it'll be wonderful; they're very clever writers."

The US TV version wasn't quite so well received. "The thrashing it got on the internet was endlessly fascinating to me. The vitriol was unbelievable. I'm sure they tried their hardest," says Davies. Maybe he's in a particularly empathetic mood given the release of Man Down. Based on his teaching days it centres on Dan, a man who, as Davies describes, is "lost at sea and ill-equipped to deal with life."

The show is delightfully ludicrous, but given Davies's former career, how autobiographical is it? "There are some true stories in it," he admits, but insists they've been exaggerated for comic effect. "Underneath it there is a truth to it all. The sadness of that character's life has been mine."

■ Greg Davies: The Back of My Mum's Head, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Thursday, November 14 at 8pm. Tickets £25 from (01223) 357 851 / cornex.co.uk

Touring opera

THE English Touring Opera is back at Cambridge Arts Theatre this week with an autumn programme bubbling with myth, love, power and mishaps.

The programme got under way with Cavalli's Jason yesterday, vaguely based on the legend of Jason and the Golden Fleece, and continues today (Thursday, November 14) with The Coronation of Poppea.

Corruption and morality writh against each other in Monteverdi's final masterpiece; the young and bewitching Poppea attempts to make King Nero (who is understandably infatuated with her), leave his wife Ottavia and make her his new queen. But will all go to plan?

And Agrippina runs from Friday, November 15 to Saturday, November 16.

An almost-prequel to Poppea, Handel's Agrippina tells the tale of Agrippina, wife to the Emperor Claudius, who plots and schemes to make her son, Nero, first in line for the imperial throne. Expect ruthless, bloodthirsty antics and political nastiness.

• English Touring Opera, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday, November 16 at 7.30pm. Tickets £20-£39 from (01223) 503333 / cambridgeartscentre.purchase-tickets-online.co.uk.

■ Famous Shakespearean comedy MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING, performed by Traffic Of The Stage Touring, takes place on Wednesday November 20 at 7.30pm. Tiptoe through the tulips

YOU have probably planted most of your spring bulbs by now, but it's not too late to add tulips to the mix, ready to create a riot of colour next season.

With this in mind, Consumers' Association magazine Which? Gardening has been scouring the country to ask head gardeners exactly how they achieve their show-stopping tulip displays.

In RHS Garden Harlow Carr in Harrogate, North Yorkshire, they use a sizzling combination of Tulipa 'Ballerina' (orange), 'Queen of Night' (dark purple) and 'Jan Reus' (dark red).

Garden manager Alison Goding explains: "The Triumph tulip 'Jan Reus' starts flowering in April and is 50cm high, while 'Queen of Night' and 'Ballerina' flower in May and are 60cm high, so the overall display has more depth and lasts a bit longer."

The tulips are in a raised bed filled with topsoil, mixed with garden compost and grit to improve drainage and bulbs are planted at a depth of three to four times the size of the bulb, 15cm apart.

A cooler theme is adopted at the Dorothy Clive

by Hannah Stephenson

Garden in Market Drayton, Shropshire (www.dorothyclivegarden.co.uk), combining white tulips 'Purissima' with masses of soft blue forget-me-nots and Allium 'Purple Sensation', which appear in late spring.

Margaret Barry, deputy curator of the garden, says: "This 'cool' theme is pleasing on the eye due to the limited tones of colour.

"The varying textures also make this display appealing: a fluffy carpet of forget-me-nots punctuated by strong, linear stems supporting symmetrical blooms."

The gardeners change the bed every year and in spring 2014 will be offering a vibrant display of 'Purple Flag', 'Christmas Orange' and 'Christmas Marvel' (cerise pink), with an underplanting of deep-blue 'Sylva' forget-me-nots, which don't tend to self-seed as much as other varieties.

If you want ideas for stunning pots of tulips, look no further than Rousham in Oxfordshire (www.rousham.org), where you can see amazing displays of majestic purple tulips, interspersed with pots of white ones. Varieties include 'Jackpot' (purple with white edge), 'Snowstar' (white), 'Ronaldo' (stocky purple-red), 'Havran' (tall dark purple) and 'Ballade' (pink with white edge).

Head gardener Ann Starling says: "I started with purple varieties then added others. I first staged the tulips in pots like this about eight years ago. I repeat it each year because it works, and purple is a different colour for spring."

"We empty the pots of their summer plantings then fill them with 15-25 bulbs each. The pots are sometimes put into coldframes in cold weather. If you do shelter planted-up pots in this way be careful, as you have to water them."

Square containers work as well as round pots for tulip displays, as visitors to Easton Ruston Old Vicarage in Norfolk (www.e-ruston-oldvicaragegardens.co.uk) will find. Plant the bulbs in rows, as close as possible without the bulbs touching.

Mixed Rembrandt tulips – so called because they have similar markings to the tulips painted by the Dutch Old Masters – are planted in layers with tulip 'Zurel' and 'Flaming Spring Green' to make a refreshing combination.

There are many options, but grey-coloured containers are a good choice for pale tulip combinations. Generally, the larger the better but if fibreglass faux lead is beyond your budget, consider the less expensive fibreclay instead.

• The full report on tulips is available in the November issue of Which? Gardening magazine.

CUSTOMERS at Murkett's Vauxhall could benefit from up to 4,600 miles' worth of free fuel, thanks to its upcoming Vauxhall Big Event.

Between this Friday and Monday, November 18, customers who purchase a brand new Vauxhall car or commercial vehicle at the retailer in East Anglia could drive away with £500 free fuel, which is equal to 4,600 miles in a Vauxhall ADAM.

Peter Milner, general sales manager at Murkett's Vauxhall comments: "Vauxhall's free fuel event provides a great opportunity for local motorists to explore the latest range of vehicles and discover the savings and incentives available to them. We'd like to invite anyone in the area looking for a new car or van to come along to our dealership during the event weekend and find out how we can assist them."

The £500 free fuel offer is available from the dealership, which has sites in Cambridge and Huntingdon, on a wide range of new Vauxhall cars and commercial vehicles sold during the event weekend, including the New Insignia, the funky, urban-chic ADAM and the full-size Cascada convertible. Plus, the offer can also be combined with Vauxhall's existing range of offers, further helping customers to reduce the cost of motoring when buying a new vehicle.

In addition, new car customers can also receive a discount of 20 per cent off

Genuine Vauxhall Accessories during the event weekend, as well as taking advantage of Vauxhall's innovative zero per cent APR Flexible Finance scheme.

Furthermore, selected Vauxhall Corsa and ADAM models come with one year's free insurance for drivers aged between 21 and 75 whilst all new Vauxhall cars come with a warranty which could last a lifetime, so customers can be confident that they are getting the best possible aftercare and service, too. Available to the first owner of all new Vauxhall cars, the warranty is valid for the lifetime of the vehicle up to a maximum of 100,000 miles.

Rovers fall to leaders while Borough draw

HAVERHILL Rovers were edged out 1-0 away to Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division leaders Hadleigh United in a close-fought game.

The hosts had the best of the chances and almost went ahead in the opening few seconds, only to be thwarted by Haverhill goalkeeper Jamie Greycroft pulling off two good saves.

Hadleigh lost right back Ryan Stafford through injury in the 28th minute and, with good chances hard to come by, the flash point of the game came on 72 minutes.

Following an off-the-ball incident, and with a corner waiting to be taken by home winger Scott Chaplin, away winger Luke Parkinson was sent off for violent conduct.

Then from the set piece, Duane Wright's downward header found its way into the back of the Haverhill net.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough were denied three points at home to Great Yarmouth Town by a 93rd minute equaliser.

Yarmouth took the lead on 21 minutes when a corner from the left was volleyed in by Andy Ager, who added the second to give the visitors a 2-0 lead at the break.

Callum Harrison got Borough on the board after having an earlier effort ruled out for offside before Ryan Weaver levelled the scores with 15 minutes to go.

Weaver then headed home from a Harrison cross to put Haverhill ahead for the first time, but they had victory snatched from their grasp three minutes into added time when Connor Deeks poked home on the rebound from a shot which had hit the post.

Double: Ryan Weaver's two strikes helped Borough earn a point.

On target: Callum Harrison scored one and set one up for Haverhill Borough.

Jack the glad in cup play-off

JACK Bligh had play-off glory in the Signpost Paints Cup at Haverhill Golf Club.

He took on Liam Merritt in the final of the summer matchplay competition, and after a close front nine it was all square, and the score remained that way to the 12th, which was won by Merritt.

A chip in from Bligh at the 14th levelled matters, and the see-saw nature continued as Merritt won the 15th and Bligh claimed the 17th.

The match went to extra holes, and the first was halved but a wayward tee shot on the second by Merritt, resulting in a double bogey, could not match Bligh's par, so he took the plaudits.

Bligh said: "The weather was extremely windy and it was a tough day to play golf. Liam was very unlucky with a few short putts that failed to drop.

"It was a great match that took a lot out of me and no doubt Liam, stretching to 20 holes.

"He has had a great year with the club championship win and also reaching the handicap knock out final—all in all a very worthy opponent."

Jackie Condon was the winner of Haverhill ladies' Midweek Medal with nett 78, three clear of Marian Mercer. Sally Price was third with 83.

In the Saturday Medal, Mary Sail was first with 76, one better than Gerrie Wheatley.

Head professional Paul Wilby produced a copy book round to win the fourth meeting of the Suffolk Winter Alliance.

He recovered from dropping a shot at the opening par three to finish with 69 and three shots clear of Felixstowe's Danny Barton and Newton Green's Tim Cooper. Waldringfield's Josh King was third with 73.

Andy Howard was the clear winner of Haverhill's Rehab Cup with 40 points, cutting his handicap by three to 23 in the process. Russell Gritty was second with 37, cutting his handicap by a shot to 13.

Matt Farlie pipped Paul Bartlett to third after both scored 35.
